ACCOUNT SUMMARY

Priced Portfolio Value and Total Portfolio Equity are rounded to the nearest dollar. Total Priced Portfolio and Expense does not include unpriced securities.

Your monthly account statement reflects positions, transactions, and valuations as of the market close on the last business day of the statement period. Due to timing differences in pricing and transaction processing, the beginning balance for a new period may differ from the prior period's ending balance. Certain assets with end-of-day prices disseminated after the cutoff, including but not limited to, mutual fund NAVs, dividend processing, certain fixed income evaluations, alternative investments, foreign exchange rates, and international security valuations, may have final prices posted on the next business day and will appear in your account activity as as-of adjustments. All updates including late-settling trades, corporate actions, interest accruals, advisory and account fees, and some check deposits processed near the cutoff, are recorded in your account ledger when received, typically within 1-2 business days following the statement period end, and will be included in the following statement period. Your monthly account statement remains the official record of your account for regulatory, tax reporting, and recordkeeping purposes. If you notice material discrepancies or have questions about specific transactions or valuations, please contact your introducing broker or investment advisor.

Securities on Loan - Participation in Fully Paid Securities Lending Program

Customers with securities on loan have agreed to participate in the Fully-Paid Securities Lending program (“FPSL”) and should be aware that shares on loan are not covered by SIPC or FDIC. The provisions of the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970 (“SIPA”) may not protect the customer with respect to the customer’s securities loan transaction, and the collateral delivered to the customer may constitute the only source of satisfaction of the member’s obligation in the event the borrower fails to return the securities. Other risks and characteristics of participation in the FPSL program include, but are not limited to: 1) the loss of voting rights; 2) the customer’s right to sell loaned securities at any time, which will terminate the loan; 3) Apex’s ability to use the loaned securities for additional loans and Apex’s ability to earn a spread and/or other profit; 4) lack of guarantee of receiving best rates; 5) risks associated with each type of collateral; 6) that the securities may be “hard-to-borrow” because of short-selling or may be used to satisfy delivery requirements resulting from short sales; 7) potential adverse tax consequences, including payments deemed cash-in-lieu of dividend paid on securities while on loan; 8) Apex’s right to liquidate the transaction because of a condition of the kind specified in FINRA Rule 4314(b); and 9) the factors that determine the amount of compensation received by Apex and paid to the customer in connection with the use of the securities borrowed from the customer, including whether any interest on cash collateral is included in the compensation, and that the Percentage Rate paid to the customer may be changed without prior notice, subject to the Minimum Percentage Rate in the Master Securities Lending Agreement. For specific details, please consult the FPSL Master Securities Lending Agreement and Important Disclosures Regarding Risks and Characteristics of Participating in FPSL documents available on Apex’s website at:
https://apexfintechsolutions.com/legal/disclosures/
Cash collateralizing shares is held at JP Morgan Chase & Co. Please consult the Fully Paid Lending Trust Agreement available on Apex's website at https://apexfintechsolutions.com/legal/disclosures/ for additional details.

MARKET VALUE

This amount represents the value of the security position in your portfolio based on appraisals obtained from the various quotation services. These appraisals are based on the closing prices, bond yields and/or the mean bid and ask on the last day of the statement period. Because of the nature of the data provided by the quotation services, we cannot guarantee the accuracy of such prices or the valuation dates particularly in the case of inactive or infrequently traded securities.
Some securities in your portfolio may be listed as “Unpriced” on your statement. We use an automated pricing service from an outside vendor and certain prices may not be available to them. You can obtain a current quotation, upon request, from your broker or bank.
Bond prices might differ from current market quotes. Similarly, bond ratings may differ from current actual ratings. Computerized pricing and rating services are often unable to supply us with up-to-the-minute information. Your broker or bank will be pleased to obtain a current quotation upon request.

BROKERED CDs

FDIC Insurance Coverage Brokered CDs receive FDIC protection up to $250,000 per depositor per bank, but all deposits at the same bank must be aggregated including direct and brokered holdings. Joint accounts get separate coverage per co-owner, trust accounts receive $250,000 per beneficiary (max five), and IRAs have separate coverage but aggregate with employer plans. Foreign bank US branches aggregate together. Premiums above par are not FDIC-insured.

CD Types and Structures Interest-bearing CDs pay periodic interest with fixed or variable rates that change on predetermined schedules or market indices. Zero-coupon CDs are issued at discount, pay no periodic interest, mature at par, and are more volatile if sold early due to duration characteristics.

Custody and Ownership No physical certificates exist; master certificates are held at DTC with brokers acting as custodians maintaining ownership records. Investors are beneficial owners while DTC holds legal title. Brokers provide records to FDIC for insurance claims if needed.

Secondary Market Trading CDs may be sold before maturity, but brokers aren't obligated to maintain markets. Prices fluctuate based on interest rates, time to maturity, bank credit quality, and demand. Prices are quoted as percentage of par (100.00) with brokers potentially retaining mark-ups/downs. No guaranteed liquidity exists.

Variable Rate Risks Step-rate CDs have predetermined rate changes while floating-rate CDs reset based on market indices. Rising rate environments may benefit investors, but falling rates provide lower returns. Callable versions risk early bank redemption when favorable to investors; non-callable versions may leave investors with below-market rates.

Primary Risks Credit risk from bank failure limits recovery to FDIC coverage. Interest rate risk affects market value with rising rates potentially causing losses. Call risk allows early bank redemption typically when rates decline. Limited liquidity may prevent desired sales, and early withdrawal penalties favor secondary market sales. Premiums above par face complete loss if banks fail.

Suitability Best suited for investors seeking predictable income with principal protection who can hold to maturity and understand risks. Requires diversification across banks and consideration of minimum investments and terms. Account statements show estimated market.

REGULATION S SECURITIES DISCLOSURE

The securities in your account may include securities issued under Regulation S of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 ("Regulation S Securities"). These securities were originally offered and sold outside the United States to non-U.S. persons in offshore transactions without registration under U.S. securities laws.

IMPORTANT RESTRICTIONS: You represent and warrant that you are not a U.S. person as defined under Regulation S, and you acknowledge that Regulation S Securities in your account may not be offered, sold, pledged, or otherwise transferred to any U.S. person or for the account or benefit of any U.S. person. "U.S. person" includes any natural person resident in the United States, any partnership or corporation organized under U.S. law, any estate or trust subject to U.S. taxation, and any agency or branch of a foreign entity located in the United States.

You agree to notify us immediately if you become a U.S. person or if any beneficial owner of securities in your account becomes a U.S. person. Any violation of these restrictions may result in violations of U.S. securities laws and immediate closure of your account.

By maintaining an account with us, you confirm your understanding of and agreement to comply with these Regulation S restrictions.

ESTIMATED ANNUAL INCOME

The current annual dividend or bond interest rate for each security held, if available from quotation services. The rate is multiplied by the number of shares or par value of bonds to determine estimated annual income.

FDIC INSURED DEPOSIT BANK BALANCES

Purchases, reinvestments and liquidations of money market funds, plus redemptions of money market fund checks.

ORDER ROUTING

The SEC requires all broker-dealers that route orders in equity securities and options to make available quarterly reports that present a general overview of their routing practices. The reports must identify the significant venues to which customer orders were routed for execution during the applicable quarter and disclose the material aspects of the broker-dealer's relationship with such venues. In addition, the Rule (SEC 606) requires broker-dealers to disclose, on customer request, the venues to which the individual customer's orders were routed for the six months prior to the request, and the execution time for the orders that were executed. For further information, please contact your broker or financial advisor.

PLEASE RETAIN THIS STATEMENT AS IT WILL BE HELPFUL IN PREPARING YOUR INCOME TAX RETURNS AND MAY BE NEEDED ALONG WITH SUBSEQUENT STATEMENTS TO VERIFY INTEREST CHARGES IN YOUR ACCOUNT. THIS STATEMENT SHALL BE DEEMED CONCLUSIVE UNLESS DIRECTED TO IN WRITING WITHIN 10 BUSINESS DAYS OF THE STATEMENT CLOSING DATE.
MUTUAL FUNDS AND OTHER SECURITIES ARE NOT INSURED BY THE FDIC, ARE NOT DEPOSITS OR OBLIGATIONS OF, OR GUARANTEED BY APEX, AND INVOLVE INVESTMENT RISKS, INCLUDING THE POSSIBLE LOSS OF THE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT INVESTED.

Apex does not recommend, solicit, structure, or perform due diligence on the merits of any alternative investment, unless expressly stated in a specific transaction document. Availability of an investment for custody/processing at Apex does not constitute an endorsement or recommendation.
- You must read the specific offering documents (e.g., private placement memorandum, limited partnership/operating agreement, subscription documents, and any supplements) before investing.

Key Risks

- Risk of total loss: You can lose your entire investment. Strategies may use leverage, derivatives, short sales, and concentrated positions that magnify losses and volatility.
- Severe illiquidity and transfer restrictions:
  - No public market is expected. Interests are generally non-transferable without manager consent and may be subject to significant restrictions or lock-ups (multi-year for private equity/credit).
  - Redemptions are limited or discretionary and may be subject to gates, suspensions, or side pockets. You may not be able to exit when desired, including during market stress.
- Capital call and default risk (committed capital funds):
  - You may be required to fund capital calls on short notice after your initial subscription.
  - Failure to fund can result in dilution, penalties, forced sale/forfeiture of interests, or legal action per fund documents.
- Valuation uncertainty:
  - Periodic valuations often rely on manager estimates, appraisals, or models and may be stale or subject to later adjustment. Statement values may not reflect realizable value.
- High and complex fees/expenses:
  - Management fees (commonly 1–3% per year), performance/incentive fees (commonly 10–25% subject to hurdles or high-water marks), organizational and operating expenses, portfolio company fees, and fund-of-funds layers reduce returns and can create conflicts. Fees may be charged on committed rather than invested capital.
- Manager/strategy risk:
  - Outcomes depend on manager skill, continuity, and operational infrastructure. Strategy drift, key-person departures, or concentration may materially affect results.
- Leverage and derivatives risk:
  - Borrowing and derivatives can increase volatility, counterparty exposure, and the risk of loss and margin calls at the fund level.
  - Operational, counterparty, and fraud risk:
  - Failures in governance, valuation controls, trade operations, administration, or safekeeping and, in rare cases, misappropriation may lead to losses unrelated to market performance.
- Conflicts of interest:
  - Managers may manage multiple funds/vehicles with overlapping mandates; allocate opportunities among clients; set or influence valuations used for fees; receive portfolio company fees; or use affiliates for services. Conflicts are addressed as disclosed in fund documents but may still adversely affect you.
- Regulatory status and disclosure limitations:
  - Many offerings are unregistered private placements with limited ongoing disclosure compared to registered products. You may receive less frequent, less standardized information and fewer investor protections than for registered funds.
- Tax complexity:
  - Expect delayed Schedule K-1s, the need to file extensions, potential “phantom income” (taxable income without cash distributions), multi-state filings, PFIC or CFC reporting, UBTI/ECI risks for tax-advantaged or non-U.S. investors, and withholding issues. Tax treatment may change and vary by jurisdiction.

Eligibility and Offering Structure

- Many alternative investments are sold via private placements and available only to investors who meet specific eligibility criteria (e.g., “accredited investor” under Regulation D and, for some funds, “qualified purchaser” under the Investment Company Act exemptions). You are responsible for ensuring you meet all eligibility requirements and for providing accurate supporting information.

Custody, Statements, and SIPC/Safeguards

- Where Apex provides custody/recordkeeping for interests, periodic account statements may reflect valuations provided by the issuer/manager or its agents and may lag actual economic value.
- Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC) protection applies only in the limited circumstances of a broker-dealer insolvency and only to "missing" cash and securities held in your brokerage account, subject to statutory limits. SIPC does not protect against market losses, issuer or manager failure, or the illiquidity of an alternative investment. Interests that are not fully paid and in the possession or control of the broker-dealer may have different outcomes in a liquidation.
- For advisory accounts, your investment adviser is responsible for compliance with applicable custody/safekeeping requirements. If Apex or another entity serves as "qualified custodian," you will receive periodic statements; however, the values shown may be manager-reported and subject to later adjustment.

Compensation and Conflicts Disclosures

- Your introducing broker, adviser, or their affiliates may receive placement, distribution, due diligence, administrative, servicing, or other compensation, which can create conflicts of interest. Apex may receive administrative/processing or custody fees. Ask your introducing firm and review offering documents for details on fees and conflicts.

Suitability and Recommendations

- If your introducing broker or adviser recommends an alternative investment, they must have a reasonable basis for the recommendation and determine that it is suitable and/or in your best interest based on your profile and applicable regulations. If you invest on a self-directed basis, you are solely responsible for your decision.

Tax, ERISA, and Other Considerations

- Consult your own tax, legal, and financial advisers before investing. Additional considerations may apply to retirement accounts (e.g., prohibited transaction rules, UBTI), trusts, and non-U.S. investors.

Investor Acknowledgments

By directing Apex to process a subscription or custody for an alternative investment, you represent and agree that:

1) You have received, read, and understood the offering documents (including the private placement memorandum/prospectus, partnership or operating agreement, subscription agreement, and any supplements) and understand that they, not this summary, control.
2) You meet all eligibility, suitability, and financial wherewithal requirements and can bear a total loss of the investment and an indefinite holding period without liquidity.
3) You are relying on your own analysis and/or your adviser's advice—not on Apex—and understand Apex is not recommending the investment and does not provide legal, tax, or accounting advice.
4) You understand that fees, expenses, valuation methods, liquidity limits, and conflicts described in the offering documents may materially affect your returns.
5) You understand that SIPC does not protect against market loss, liquidity constraints, or issuer/manager failure, and provides only limited protection in the event of broker-dealer insolvency as described above.
6) You consent to electronic delivery and the possibility of delayed or adjusted valuations and tax documents.

Important: This disclosure is for general informational purposes only and is not legal, tax, or investment advice. You should consult qualified counsel and advisers regarding your circumstances.
